Leica, the brand that pioneered 35mm cameras, originated from the Optics Institute, which was founded in Wetzlar, Germany, by Carl Kellner to improve upon microscope technology. Mechanic and instrument maker Ernst Leitz I took over the company in 1869 and renamed it after himself. Leitz optical engineer and mechanic Oskar Barnack was also an amateur photographer around the turn of the century.

The reason is that a Leica is not really a commodity. Sure, there is a market price for an M4 or LHSA MP3, but condition, recent CLA and other factors, like parts authenticity, early vs late model, or even 'lucky' serial numbers can make a huge difference in the value of a camera. The difference an expert buyer can make is worth his fee.
